

Traveling Classroom Offered This Summer; To Tour Western Scenes

A travelling class in far western American history will be offered to UMD students during the second summer session. A group of 36 students, accompanied by Miss Maude Lindquist of the History department, will leave Duluth by Greyhound bus on July 20 for a 34-day tour of western United States.

The tour, which will carry six credits, will cover 9,000 miles, stop in about 15 states, and see ten national parks, said Miss Lindquist. Lectures will be given at historical sites by professors at the University of Denver, Sacramento State college, and the University of Washington, she added. Some evenings will be used for class lectures, and there will be free time at Salt Lake City, Denver, Seattle, and San Francisco, and on every Sunday, to enable students to attend church services.

Among the many interesting scenes and sites to be visited are far western ghost towns, including Silver City and Virginia City, Nevada, where Mark Twain worked as a cub reporter; Cripple Creek, California; and Central City, Colorado. The group will see the bad lands of South Dakota, Pike's Peak, the Painted Desert and the petrified forest in New Mexico, and the Grand Canyon. One night will be spent on the south rim of the Grand Canyon. Many other historical sites, museums and monuments will be visited.

Cost to the student, exclusive of meals and university tuition, will be approximately $390. This price includes transportation expenses, hotel accommodations at first class hotels, approved by Duncan Hines and listed with the American Hotel association, plus the cost of all city tours at Denver, Colorado Springs, and San Francisco, a boat trip to Victoria, Vancouver on the Pacific coast, national park fees, and university insurance.

"Eight students have already signed up," said Miss Lindquist. Other students who wish to make the trip should sign up with Miss Lindquist, and then make their contract with the university. Payment will be in installments through the Social Studies office.

Sno-week Group Set Plans

UMD's art instructor, Robert Wood, and his wife Joani, are featured in the February issue of "McCall's" magazine, now on the news-stands. In a five-page illustrated article, "We Built Our Own Kitchen," the Woods tell how they remodeled their new apartment in Duluth when they moved here from the West Coast.

THAT WOULD BE A GOOD PLACE, says Sno-week chairman Don Mlodzik as he discusses the site where the ski jumping contest will take place with Janet Nelson and Jerry Cross, Student Council Social Activities Commissioner. (Photo by L. W. F. Berg.)

A gigantic Sno-week, Feb. 19-26, for all UMD students is in the offing this year, according to plans made by the Sno-week committee, under the charge of general chairman, Don Mlodzik.

Don and his committee have been studying ways to make the annual fun week a better event than we have ever seen in the past. And their thinking has resulted in some top-notch activities that should make all UMDites sit up and take notice.

Leading off the Sno-week calendar on Friday, Feb. 19, will be the never-tried-before snow caravan to Lutsen ski resort on the North Shore drive. Greyhound buses will leave Main building Friday morning and arrive at the famous winter playground in time for about three hours skiing.

Following the stint in the fresh air will be one of Lutsen's famous meals with all the trimmings. In the evening the Sno-weekers can skate for awhile on the lighted rink and then dance in the lodge until midnight.

Ski boots are not allowed in the lodge so students are asked to bring mock-a-socks for the dancing. There will be a limited amount of ski equipment available for rental for those not having their own.

The total price of this play-day, including round trip bus ride and a meal, is $4.75.

The buses will head back for Duluth at midnight and when they arrive, at about 2:30 a.m., the second activity is scheduled. This being in the form of a "Dawn Yarn." The "Dawn Yarn" will be a dance in the gym of Main from 2:30 until 4:30 a.m.

Following this will be a hot-cake and sausage breakfast in the cafeteria, which will end at about 6:00 a.m. Saturday.

Saturday and Sunday the Central Ski meet will take place at Mont du Lac. This is expected to attract amateur skiers from all parts of the country. There will be UMD skiers represented also.

Monday, (which is a free day) the students will have to make a choice as to which activity they want to participate in because there are two major programs scheduled.

Bulldog basketball fans can catch a ride to the Hamline game being played in the Pipers' gym, at the front door of Main. The "Greyhound caravan" will leave for St. Paul in the morning and have the fans there for some free time in the Cities before game time. Arrangements are pending to stage a dance after the game or some other form of entertainment. The cost for the ride, game and

Sixth Annual Woodchoppers Ball Scheduled For Late January

There'll be plenty of sawdust and wood chips in the air at the Medical Arts ballroom on Friday, Jan. 29, when the sixth annual Woodchoppers ball sponsored by Sigma Iota Epsilon, UMD industrial arts fraternity, is held from 9 p.m. to midnight.

The wood debris will be mostly figurative, however, as the industrial arts group members and their ladies enjoy a social evening with not too much in the way of saws and axes to remind them of their career pursuits.

Leonard Jokinen is fraternity president and is overseeing the event. Leland Gillogly is vice president; Milo Colich, secretary, and Kenneth Lahti, treasurer.

Russell Martin is general chairman in charge of arrangements. Committees include: ticket sales, Milo Colich and Kenneth Lahti; publicity, Lavern Hammer and Dale Fieldseth; entertainment, Thomas Zakula and James Nygaard; program, Emmett Anderson and Virgil Lindquist.

SIE alumni are especially invited to attend with their ladies, President Jokinen notes. Special intermission entertainment is being planned.

Guild Readies Drama

By BARBARA LAIBL

Dr. Hayes and his cast have been rehearsing diligently on the winter quarter play, "The Silver Cord." Though the cast is small, the impact of the conflict is well up to last year's "Death of a Salesman."

Marilyn Abalon portrays Mrs. Phelps, a mother who uses psychological devices to keep her sons dependent on her. David Wood, the older, and more strong willed of the two sons, faces the conflict of devotion to his wife or to his mother.

His wife, Christine, a sensible and persuasive woman, successfully outwits Mrs. Phelps on her own grounds and eventually wins David over. Marilyn Eaton is cast in this role.

Rob, the younger son, played by Nickerson Bailey, is easily dissuaded to break his engagement. So Mrs. Phelps triumphs, and his young fiancée is hysterical. Elaine Peterson, a freshman, and newcomer to the UMD stage, plays the emotional Hester, who eventually leaves Rob to the consolation of his dominating mother.

This completes the cast of "The Silver Cord." For an evening of drama at its peak, choose Feb. 10, 11, 12, or 13 to see this performance. Admission is by activity card.

Bus Line Serves Campus During Sports Events

A special effort is being made by the Duluth-Superior Transit Co. to provide a shuttle bus service on game nights for bus patrons on cross-town lines.

This experimental basis service offers a great convenience to athletic patrons of UMD. Such a service will greatly reduce the crowded parking conditions at and near the Physical Education building.

Shuttle buses will make stops to pick up passengers on cross lines at 24th Ave. E. and 4th St. and at the Kent Rd. and Woodland Ave. intersection. Transfers will be accepted from connecting bus lines.

Buses will leave 24th Ave. E. and Superior St. at 7, 18, 37 and 48 minutes after 6 and 7 p.m.

Buses will be parked at or near the main entrance to the Physical Education building to pick up returning passengers after the game. The bus will travel over the same route and will stop at connecting bus lines on this route.

Books For Freedom Drive Slated For Next Month

"Book an' a quarter" can well be the slogan of the Books for Freedom drive to be initiated under the direction of the Inter-Fraternity-Sorority council.

At the request of a former college classmate, Shannon McCune, now teaching geography at the University of Tokyo, Prof. I. W. Chamberlin called for used college texts to be shipped to Japan.

At present, McCune relates, Japanese students are buying propaganda texts provided at subsidized rates by the Russian government. While new American books are available, they cost approximately 15 times as much as the Russian volumes and so are priced out of the student market.

A number of books have already been received since an earlier announcement several weeks earlier, although the drive is not yet underway. The IFSC has taken charge of the project in order to provide a constructive goal toward which rushees and pledges to the various fraternities and sororities can work.

In addition to collecting the books is the cost of shipment. Used books must be shipped in bundles of 6½ pounds or less, about three books per package. These bundles will require 80 cents postage.

For this reason the "book an' a quarter" theme. If students will donate 25 cents with each book, postage will be assured. Some postage money has already been given Prof. Chamberlin by individuals and more will be forthcoming as campus clubs enter the project.

Most in demand are books in the social studies and related fields, however, any book at college level is welcomed. The volumes should not be out of date, but this does not exclude titles no longer in use here.

Professor Chamberlin has asked that students write their names in all books in order to assure a classification as used texts, otherwise the volumes will be subject to import duties.

Books can be left at Prof. Chamberlin's office in 210 Washburn. Bring in a book, and if you remember, bring in a "book an' a quarter."

March of Dimes Opens on Campus

By DICK OJAKANGAS

The March of Dimes drive formally opens on the campus Monday morning.

Beta Phi Kappa social fraternity is in charge. All members and pledges will be carrying collection containers next week.

Wednesday night the fraternity will put on the first performance of their 1954 Minstrel show in the UMD auditorium. This show is primarily for the downtown public, as it will go on stage for the student population as a Sno-week event. The entire proceeds of Wednesday's show will go to the March of Dimes, with all contributions welcome.

Individuals and campus organizations are urged to support the drive wholeheartedly. UMD's past record for this charity is not one to be proud of. This year's goal of $150 figures out to a mere dime per person. Certainly UMD can add a successful March of Dimes drive to their many past accomplishments.

Phi Delta Pi Holds Dance After Game

There will be dancing after the UMD-Superior State basketball game tonight when the Phi Delta Pi honorary fraternity for women physical education majors and minors, sponsors an all-school dance.

The dance will begin immediately following the game and will continue until 12 p.m. The music for the informal stag or drag affair will be furnished by Ronnie High, Art Peterson, Glen Ellefson and Les Swanson.

Admission will be 50 cents with all tickets sold at the door. Carol Ink, president of Phi Delta Pi, said, "We are urging all UMD students to back this affair and if it is successful perhaps more basketball-dance combinations will be possible." Superior State students have also been invited to attend.

Committees for the dance are: Marilew Latto and Gladys Rappana, publicity and refreshments; Carol Ink and Pat Boraman, arrangements.

Your Business by Dick Gay

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following statements and those to come, are meant to illustrate common problems at UMD. Where opinion is expressed, it is that of Dick Gay, and is not necessarily supported by the STATESMAN.

The recent CSO conference marked a major advance in the growth of the student role here at UMD. Student organizations should be congratulated for the caliber of students they sent to the conference. Students met and discussed their mutual problems for the first time, displaying an interest and a foresight that both surprised and encouraged the administration.

Probably the biggest issue of the day lay in the discussion of the relationship between a student organization's funds, the administration, and the business office. The problem roughly is this — a student organization places funds in the business office and is unable to remove them for all purposes. Now there are several points to realize in considering a question like this that many groups are not too sharp on. For one thing, student organizations are not as sovereign as they would like to be. The bigger point is that in any conflict the administration always wins. Since you can't beat them, the idea is to join them as advantageously as possible.

It certainly is natural that a group should feel that it should reap the benefits of its dues, or its all-school dances and use such proceeds for any purpose it wishes, but off-hand, I can't think of any other school where this is done. The administration feels that if a group uses the University name and uses school facilities to make its money, the expenditure of same should be governed by University policy. Here's the rub—the administration has no set policy on this question. It can only administer funds that are placed in the business office and all organizations do not keep their money there.

It is difficult to ask a group to submit its financial activities to the arbitrary administration of certain individuals. Business office operation should be a service and not a hardship on students who use it. Obviously what is needed is a clear-cut policy fair to all organizations.

Assuming that the administration will come out on top of this pile, I can't see why groups like the Engineers, and the medical students worry year after year about making ends meet on their all-school dances. The Student Council which is seeking a well-balanced social program would gladly underwrite any such valuable addition to this program provided such organizations will do the work.

Footballer, Artist Returns After South Sea Mine Sweeper Experiences

By JACKIE ROCCHIO

Life in the Orient offers a variety of mysteries and intrigue, but Richard MacDonnell, recently returned to UMD from a year overseas, was content to spend his shore leaves visiting museums and other centers of art.

Dick, a cheerful young man with the ability to inspire laughter in his listeners, first attended UMD in 1949, after graduation from Duluth Central. With his keen interest in the artistic, Dick is understandably an art major, but he is also a sports enthusiast, having been a member of the football squad and track team when previously attending the U.

When called into the service as a seaman in the navy, Dick became a member of an underwater demolition and mine-sweeping unit, on the floating drydock, the LSD, serving with the United Nations forces in Korea. It was the job of this specialized crew to clear the mine fields in enemy harbors so that the cruisers and battle-ships could enter and fire upon strategic areas. Demolition outfits have a motto, "Where the fleet goes, we have been." The LSD was constructed so as to allow small craft to enter its hold; it is from these small craft that the demolition crews operate. Attached to the boats are long parevanes, with cutters on the end, which usually probe about 30 feet deep for a mine. As the mines are cut, they float to the surface and are exploded by sub-machine guns. Exacting skill and steady nerves are required when the mines are dismantled on board ship for observation.

When the ship went into Japan for supplies, Dick took advantage of the opportunity to pursue his favorite subject—art. The seaman was impressed by such sights as Buddha in Komokwa and Madame Butterfly's home in Nagasaki. The beautiful image of Buddha is about two stories high and sculptured of marble. A door in the right knee opens into a cave, where a small image of Buddha is constructed of precious stones.

In Nagasaki, where the atomic bomb was dropped almost 10 years ago, the city has been built up considerably, but tension still exists. In theaters, delicacies to be sold consist of squid and octopus rather than candy.

Dick greatly admired the spirit and ingenuity of the Japanese people, who are always singing. Though they haven't much to work with, they do wonders with what they have.

The undaunted spirit of the young men overseas through firing and freezing temperatures is illustrated in such incidences as the sculpturing of a shapely miss out of snow, erected on the gun mount and christened "Miss Wan San."

Although Dick has been pledged to secrecy and is rather reluctant to speak of any battle experiences, he has many interesting tales to tell of his adventures.

Campus Yarns by Will Sweeney

The height of the mukluk season should just about be over now, and we'll be able to take out our short-sleeved T-shirts and tennis rackets. It must be getting close to spring, for I saw a swimming suit display downtown in one of the shop windows (the fact that the thermometer registered twenty below at the time didn't fool me for a minute). I hope the thaw comes pretty quick—if it came too soon, of course, it might ruin Sno-week, but they could always change the name to mud-week or something.

They sure are planning to make a big thing out of Sno-week this year. There will be the usual parade of queens that makes up in some measure for the bathing beauty contests in balmy climates; a minstrel show by the Beta Phi Kappa choraleers; a bus trip to Lutsen for ski enthusiasts, and of course the beards. If there is any boy that hates to shave, or is a natural Kytote at heart, here is a chance to look like a scrounge and be in good company.

The event that I am looking forward to most, is hearing Gov. C. Elmer Anderson speak. I have never heard Silent C. say a word as of yet and I often have wondered if he can talk. Now I can find out.

Some friends of mine were complaining about all the red tape that one has to go through in the OSPS in regards to adding or dropping a class. Myself, I think that they were wrong. There is very little red tape to be found in the UMD administration these days. In fact it almost makes a person nostalgic when he thinks back on the good old days when it was practically impossible to get anything done in the office—not that it is all in ship-shape, or that there aren't still some pitfalls in administration, but things in general are pretty good. P.S. You can buy me coffee any time you feel like it, Mr. Falk, and El Ropo is my favorite cigar.

Cafeteria? Still making recommendations. Progress is at snail's pace, but as long as it is forward, there is little to cry about, and the salt is free, so you don't need to shed salt tears into your potatoes to flavor them.

I have a request from the exalted Dick Gay, a very staunch Democrat—would the partisan Republicans stop putting Republican propaganda in his P.O. box, for he refuses to be converted. He suggests that those little seeds of wisdom would find more fertile soil if they were left in the box of Grant Merritt. Please!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"He's th' most sought-after 'Rushee' on campus . . . It's rumored he can cut hair and may even have a barber license."

WHAT'S SHOWIN'

'Miss Sadie Thompson'

This is one of the few 3-D's to come out of Hollywood in which the result justifies the distraction of the glasses. Somerset Maugham's south sea drama is supported with some of the most beautiful scenes that the average movie viewer will hope to see for a while without venturing a voyage to the Hawaiian Islands, where the picture was shot. Columbia went all out to produce the right setting effect with two million gallons of water to provide enough artificial rain for the heavy storms.

The cast passes. Rita is her usual leggy self. She sings, she dances, she acts and talks cheap and coarse and she gets emotional for awhile. Jose Ferrer's role is under his natural capabilities and Aldo Ray carries out his boisterous part in true Ray fashion.

This, the third movie version, is taken from the original "Miss Thompson" by Maugham. It enjoyed a long tour on Broadway in the early twenties and since has paraded around the country by screen or stage under the names of "Rain" and "Miss Sadie Thompson."

The story now feels the effect of the war with the emergence of a detachment of marines. Sadie (Hayworth) visits the island when her ship comes under a typhus quarantine and nothing is quite the same after. The marines and their guest stage several parties in which

The Editor's Mailbox

Dr. R. W. Darland, Provost UMD
Dear Dr. Darland:

We have received many expressions of thanks from the children to whom gifts were given by the students and faculty at UMD. The children who received skates have been making good use of them and are proud to have their very own. Nine little boys and girls have been playing with the big toboggan and thoroughly enjoying it. The little girls who received both doll buggies and doll houses were overwhelmed. The houses even had antennae on them. Little Patsy has been giving her kitten long rides in the doll buggy. The boarding parents of the four negro children who received gifts said that the gifts were exactly what the children wanted. They appreciated the selection and also the time and effort spent in wrapping the gifts and were happy that cards had been enclosed so that they knew who had been so kind to the children. Little 7-year-old Sharon has been sliding most of the time since she got her sled and loves it. Maggie has been hugging her doll since Christmas. The boy who got the boots and the one who got a holster take them to bed with them every night. These are a few of the comments we have heard and give only a part of the picture of Christmas happiness made possible by your groups at the UMD.

The teen age girls who have no family ties are often the ones who are overlooked at Christmas and yet they are the ones who have the greatest need of attention. The gifts for that group were such beautiful luxury items and beyond anything which the girls could hope to have. It gave them a Christmas such as they have never had. The 17 year old boy who received four Hank Williams records and the album said that that was the best Christmas present he had ever been given.

I understand that the boys of the Gamma Theta Phi fraternity sponsored or at least had a great deal to do with this project and that many others contributed. Our contact was largely with Bruce Halverson. Will you kindly express the thanks of our agency to all who worked toward a happy Christmas for these children.

Sincerely,

(Mrs.) Florence Frarey, Child Welfare Supervisor
ST. LOUIS COUNTY WELFARE BOARD
CHILDREN'S DIVISION

To the Students of UMD:

Gamma Theta Phi wishes to extend its heartiest thanks to all individuals and organizations on campus who gave so generously to make the "I Remembered Petey" campaign a success.

Close to 30 orphans in Duluth had a very merry Christmas as a result of the generous attitude of UMD students and organizations. A total of $277.40 was collected and spent to give these organizations what they wanted most at Christmas.

This, along with the wonderful co-operation received from the welfare board, made the "Petey drive" a success.

Generous donations were received from the following organizations: Gamma Theta Phi, Beta Phi Kappa, Simga Tau Kappa, Sigma Psi Gamma, Mu Delta Phi, Phi Delta Phi, Barkers, Pemms, Arnold Air Society, Westminster Fellowship, and the Home Ec. Club.

AF Information Team To Be on Campus

Through its Aviation Cadet program, the United States Air Force trains qualified young men to become pilots or aircraft observers and provides a valuable reserve for this nation's defense.

Any single young man between the ages of 19 and 26½ in good physical condition possesses the basic requirements for submitting an application for this aviation training.

Although a high school diploma is the minimum education requirement, it is the policy of the Air Force to encourage young men to go as far as possible in school and to begin flight training after graduation from college. A student who has majored in engineering, mathematics or related fields can supplement his college background in any of these various fields under the Observer Program.

Training programs consist of physical training, leadership drilling, flight screening, aerobatics and all other airborne operations and are approximately 15 months in length.

Upon completion of this course, a cadet is awarded a commission as a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force, the silver wings and a starting salary of at least $5,000 a year.

Students who are interested in further information about this worthwhile program may contact the Aviation Cadet Selection team, S/Sgt. James C. Phillips and T/Sgt. Arthur E. Hall, which will be located on the first floor hall, Main, January 27.

UMD Concert Band Sets New Program

Mozart's overture to The Impresario will open a performance by the UMD University band at 8 p.m. January 26 in Main auditorium. Elmer P. Mag-nell is the director of the band, Robert E. Beverley is assistant conductor.

A modernization of Hector Berloiz's Recitative and Prayer, from Grand Symphony for Band, opus 15, will provide a new experience in tone size. John Hussey will be the trombone soloist.

Robert Russell Bennett's Suite of Old American Dances will include a Cake Walk, Schottische and a One-Step. Erik Leidzen's Alpine Fantasy for Horn Trio and Band will feature Jackie Mindlin, Leonard Murray and Ronald Ronaldson, respectively.

Two works by Mussorgsky, the Corgege from Khovanschina and a Scherzo will depict moods of impending tragedy, in the former, and light and buoyant character.

John McEldowney will be the soloist in Alec Wilder's Air for Oboe and Strings; Arlene Johnson, Marlene Nelson and Andrew Pappas will make up a trio in Harry Simeone's Flute Cocktail.

From Puccini's La Boheme, Alford's march paraphrase on Musetta's Waltz Song will receive its first performance in this area.

A contemporary work, Shostakovich's Finale from Symphony No. 5, will be the final number on the program. The Finale has been arranged by Charles B. Righter, conductor of the University of Iowa band.

NEWS BRIEFS

Beta Phi Kappa social fraternity will put on its fifth annual formal pledging party at the Hotel Duluth this Saturday night. This is the first formal event for the prospective members.

meal again will be covered by a small charge to the riders.

If you are a hockey fan there will be activities for you, too. The Bulldog pucksters will play St. Cloud Monday evening at 7:30. Following the hockey game there will be a broomball game between the faculty and students. A skating party will come next; this is slated for 10:00 a.m., all activities being held in the Curling club.

Tuesday at 11 a.m., the queen convo will take place with the introduction of the queen candidates. All campus organizations are invited to sponsor candidates. The deadline for pictures is Feb. 9.

Tuesday evening there will be a square dance in the gym in Main, and the beards will be judged with the winner being crowned Snow King.

Wednesday, the Beta Phi Kappa minstrel show is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Gov. Anderson will be a visitor on campus Thursday. He will arrive in the morning, tour UMD and talk in the auditorium at 11 a.m.

Thursday evening will be the all-school torchlight parade. Superior street will be blacked out for this event and paraders will walk from Sixth avenue west to Ninth avenue east.

At 8:15 p.m. Thursday, the varsity show sponsored by the freshman class, will take place in the auditorium. This will consist of student skits and some skits from last year's faculty show. There will be prizes for the three best acts.

Topping the week off on Friday, Feb. 26, will be the annual Snow Ball. The Dick Finch orchestra, booking out of Minneapolis and Chicago, has been obtained for this year's dance. The dance will be semi-formal and free in the Phy-Ed building.

Other events taking place throughout the week will be a snowman contest on Torrance lawn between the freshman and sophomore classes and a ski jumping contest with boys and

Concert Series, McFerrin In Thursday

Robert McFerrin, 32-year-old baritone whose operatic appearances have included the role of Amonasro in "Aida" and Valentine in "Faust," will be heard in recital at 8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 28, in UMD's Main auditorium. It will be the second in the current UMD Concert Series.

Born in St. Louis, the seventh of eight children, he spent a year at Fisk University, then started his vocal studies in earnest when he won a scholarship at the Chicago Musical College.

He won the nation-wide Chicago Musicland competition and appeared as soloist at Chicago's summer Grant Park series.

After army service, McFerrin went to New York to study. There the young baritone attracted the attention of Boris Goldovsky, who promptly offered him a scholarship in the opera department at Tanglewood. McFerrin sang leads in the operas "Iphigenia in Tauris" by Gluck, and Verdi's "Rigoletto"; Goldovsky had him repeat both roles professionally with the New England Opera Company.

Concert Series members who will not be able to use their tickets for this performance are asked to leave them with Mrs. Haley, 109 Washburn, so that they will be available for members who wish to take guests.

girls competing, also on Torrance lawn.

A handbook describing in detail the many different events of the gigantic week is being prepared and will be available shortly.

Admission for all events will be by Sno-week buttons.

Committee chairmen assisting Mlodzik are Peggy Grover and John Sherman, publicity; Ralph Miller and Claude Whitney, decorations; Frank Mason, buttons; Jerry DeShaw and Janet Nelson, arrangements; Ted Kamotos and Tom Hayes, handbook publication; and Tom Johnson, "Dawn Yawn."

Eddollsmen Clash With Tech In Two-Game Series

Bulldogs Handed Second Conference Loss

By RALPH ROMANO

The UMD hockey team, boasting a three-game winning streak, heads into its toughest competition of the season tonight and tomorrow in a two-game series with the Michigan Tech Huskies at Houghton.

The Techmen, members of the Western Hockey League, the toughest collegiate hockey league in the country, are led by co-captains Harry Taylor and George McGinn. Taylor, who was named to the second team of the Western League All-Star squad, is considered one of the outstanding goal-tenders in college competition.

The Huskies, who last year drubbed the Bulldogs, 8-1, have five lettermen back, but are bolstered by a number of Canadian students. Last year, Michigan Tech finished sixth in the Western league which includes, in addition to Tech, Minnesota, Michigan, Michigan State, North Dakota, Denver and Colorado.

Sixteen players will make the trip. They are Bob Apostol, Dick Bellamy, Jim Birt, Bob Boyat, John Bymark, Bruce Copperud, Harold High, Frank Holappa, Duane Johnson, Frank Johnson, John Mitchell, Al Peterson, Ron Scott, Alex Sisto, Ron Sjoberg and Howard Wallene, in addition to Coach Gordy Eddolls and Student Manager Ray Heino.

The Eddollsmen meet the Huskies in a single game at the Duluth Curling club Thursday, Feb. 28. The Gustavus Adolphus sextet, whom the Bulldogs defeated twice last year, will play at the Curling club next Monday.

Sports On Parade

by Arne Moilanen

The scramble for the MIAC crown is clearing up somewhat, and it appears that Gustavus may be a shoo-in for the title despite the fact that our Bulldogs handed them their only loop loss. Hamline, who lost to the Gusties several weeks ago, has also been beaten once, and even though they have a young club they probably will

Judging from the standings and play to date, and considering that UMD is practically out of the running after losing Mark Vukelich and Tom Richardson, this corner will string along with the Gusties as the MIAC champs with Hamline second.

Possession of third place may become a heated contest between UMD, St. Thomas and St. Mary's, while St. John's and Macalester appear to have the "spoiler" teams. Augsburg and Concordia apparently will battle for eighth place in the standings.

After tonight's game against Superior, the Bulldogs travel to St. Mary's next Tuesday for a crucial battle insofar as third place is concerned. The Redmen have won four and lost three to date. Then comes a four-game home stand, beginning Jan. 30 against Hamline.

By the way, if you haven't any transportation to the gymnasium, be sure to take advantage of the bus service to the game. This service is on a trial basis and your patronage will go a long way in determining whether this service will remain, not only this season, but for years to come.

ODDS AND ENDS

That knifing incident in Detroit in which a high school player was hospitalized resulted in cancelling all future night

The crippled UMD Bulldogs were practically eliminated from title contention last Tuesday when the revenge-seeking St. Thomas five, victims in three conference games, pasted a 77-58 defeat on the staggering Maroon and Gold. The loss was UMD's second in loop play.

Maroon and Gold Whip Auggies, 79-65

Bob McDonald, former Hibbing JC star, and Capt. Chuck Hiti sparked the Bulldogs to a 79-65 victory over Augsburg last Saturday for UMD's fourth conference win as against one loss. McDonald, who enjoyed his best night, pumped in 22 points on jump shots and lay-ups, 16 of those points coming in the first half.

Hiti boosted his season's scoring total to 251 in 12 games and 98 in five loop games.

The Maroon and Gold had little difficulty in downing the eighth-place Auggies, grabbing a 16-9 edge at the quarter and 41-22 at the half. Both clubs played on even terms in the second half.

Center's Bruce Paulson and John McKeag collected 14 points between them, Paulson accounting for nine and McKeag five. Guard Jerry Wilmut hit the hoop for 11 and Bob Seikkula for five.

MIAC STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Gustavus	7	1	.875
Hamline	5	1	.827
UMD	4	2	.667
St. Mary's	4	3	.591
St. Thomas	3	3	.500
Macalester	3	4	.429
St. John's	3	5	.375
Concordia	1	5	.167
Augsburg	1	6	.143

Most of UMD's field goals came on the fast break, but the Bulldogs were unable to cope with the Tommies' height advantage. Despite the loss, the Isenbargermen retained possession of third place in the MIAC race with a 4-2 record.

Guard Mel Koivisto captured scoring laurels with 17 counters, followed by Capt. Chuck Hiti, who had his poorest scoring night, and Bob McDonald with 12 each. Bruce Paulson added 10.

The Bulldogs play host to Superior State tonight at the UMD gym and next Tuesday travel to St. Mary's.

Slabsters Schedule Two Events; Open At Houghton Next Month

Two events, the Central U. S. Intercollegiate downhill and slalom championship at Houghton, Michigan, and the Central U. S. four-event meet at Duluth, are definitely scheduled this year for the UMD ski team, coached by Ward Wells. The Houghton meet will be held Feb. 6-7 and the Duluth event Feb. 11 and 12.

Eddollsmen Trip Tech For Second Win, 10-4

Wing Al Peterson scored three goals, two on beautiful solo rushes to lead the UMD Bulldogs to a 10-4 victory over Lakehead Tech in a game witnessed by 1,200 fans at the Duluth Curling club last Friday.

The Bulldogs jumped to a quick two-goal lead in the first period and then methodically built up a 10-1 margin before the team from Port Arthur rallied for three goals in the final stanza.

Rough play was dominant throughout and the penalty box was kept well populated as 15 penalties were issued.

The scoring was well-balanced as Ron Sjoberg, John Mitchell and Jerry Calengor each added two goals and Harold (Skip) High garnered one.

The victory, however, was an expensive one when it was learned that Calengor, a scrappy little wing, would be lost for the season. Calengor, a sophomore, suffered a broken collarbone in a collision with a Lakehead defenseman.

The Bulldogs competed in the national intercollegiate meet last year where they finished eighth. This year, however, all teams in that event must belong to the NCAA. UMD is not a member of that association.

The Maroon and Gold had also entered an invitational meet at Lead, South Dakota, tomorrow and Sunday but that was cancelled.

Members of the ski team and their events are:

Capt. Duane Ramfjord, four-events; Don Nygaard, downhill, slalom and cross-country; George Bogart, downhill, slalom; Jim Hayes, downhill, slalom; Stuart Benson, downhill, slalom; Jack Wangenstein, downhill, jumping; Elwood Loh, downhill, slalom; Carl Schramm, downhill; Wally Aunan, downhill, slalom; Paul Schmidt, downhill, slalom, cross-country; Jim Nygaard, cross-country; Dennis Ojakangas, cross-country; Jim Blackwell, cross-country; Jack Modahl, jumping; and Wayne Brotlund, jumping.

Lettermen from last year are Benson, Modahl, Don Nygaard, Schramm, Ramfjord, Slotness and Wangenstein.

Pucksters Remain Undeclared In MIAC Play; Defeat Hamline

The UMD hockey team remained undefeated in MIAC play as they whipped Hamline, 4-1, on the Pipers' ice. The win was UMD's second in conference play and second over the hapless Pipers, who are in the loop cellar.

WAA Activities

By BARB LAIBL

Winter quarter officially started at the general meeting, Thursday, Jan. 14. Committees were set up to handle the winter Sports Day which will take place early in February and will include nearby colleges.

The High School Playday will be held in the physical education building March 6. Outlying high schools will be invited to this event.

Betty McColl was elected publicity chairman and Pat Haley, winter quarter sports chairman. Shirley Ott, Sue Haskins, Darlene Melander and Betty Lawson were elected basketball captains.

WAA basketball will begin shortly with games scheduled once a week.

Howie Wallene dented the net for two goals while Frank Johnson and Ron Sjoberg scored the other two.

The Pipers took a 1-0 lead in the first period, but the Bulldogs bounded back to take a 2-1 lead going into the final chapter. Wallene, on an unassisted solo, tied the score and then Johnson, assisted by Al Peterson and Alex Sisto, gave UMD the lead for good.

In the third period, Sjoberg, on an assist from Harold High, and Wallene, who took a pass from Dick Bellamy, tallied the third and fourth goals.

Duane Johnson, the Bulldogs' goalie, made 17 saves while Tom Hichman, the Piper goaltender, made 26.
